Dr. Ernest Njoroge Mwangi

Human resource as critical ingredient in training

On behalf of Kibabii Council, and the entire university community, I am delighted to welcome you to the 3rd Graduation Ceremony of Kibabii University. On this day, we honor our graduands for satisfying the requirements for the conferment of degrees and award of diplomas and certificates.

Through efficient and effective resource mobilization and utilization, Council has put in place measures to attract and retain competent staff in addition to improving their welfare and working conditions. This workforce has been a critical ingredient in the production of quality graduates equipped with entrepreneurial skills and capacity to create employment.

The Council is developing a pool of highly trained and competent human resources that will implement transformative activities for the University. This will allow Kibabii University to grow, based on its medium and long term strategic plan. Part of this involves providing opportunities for staff to be part of the solution to the many challenges facing society.

As we thank the Government of Kenya, through the Ministry of Education, for support and partnership, I wish to highlight the resolve of Council to continuously improve the University's pool of scholars in order to upscale the profile of the institution as centre of excellence in training, consultancy, research and innovation.
